

Deep Green Resistance: A Strategy to Save the Planet

By Derrick Jensen and Lierre Keith

The planet is in crisis. Industrial civilization is destroying the environment, causing climate change, and creating social injustice. We are facing a future of mass extinction, rising sea levels, and widespread poverty. But there is hope. Deep Green Resistance is a nonviolent movement that seeks to dismantle the industrial system and create a more just and sustainable society.

Deep Green Resistance is based on the understanding that the industrial system is fundamentally unsustainable. The system relies on the exploitation of the environment and the oppression of people. It is a system that is designed to benefit a few at the expense of the many. Deep Green Resistance believes that the only way to save the planet is to dismantle the industrial system.
