Planning Your Itinerary

The first step in planning your trip is to decide what you want to see and do. Walt Disney World is a huge place, so it's important to narrow down your options before you start making reservations. If you have special needs, you'll also want to consider which attractions are accessible. You can find a list of accessible attractions on the Walt Disney World website.

Once you have a general idea of what you want to see and do, you can start planning your itinerary. Be sure to allow plenty of time for breaks and relaxation. You'll also want to factor in the time it will take to get from one place to another. Walt Disney World is a large resort, so it's important to give yourself plenty of time to get around.

Finding Accessible Attractions

Not all attractions at Walt Disney World are accessible. However, there are many attractions that are accessible to people with different disabilities. You can find a list of accessible attractions on the Walt Disney World website.

When you're planning your itinerary, be sure to check the accessibility information for each attraction. You can also call the Walt Disney World Disability Services office at (407) 560-2547 for more information.

Finding Accessible Accommodations

If you have special needs, you'll need to find accessible accommodations. Walt Disney World offers a variety of accessible accommodations, including:

- Accessible hotel rooms
- Accessible transportation
- Accessible dining options

You can find more information about accessible accommodations on the Walt Disney World website.

Getting Around Walt Disney World

Walt Disney World is a large resort, so it's important to have a plan for getting around. There are a variety of transportation options available, including:

- Buses
- Monorail
- Ferry boats

You can also rent a wheelchair or scooter if you need one. For more information on transportation options, visit the Walt Disney World website.

Tips for a Successful Trip

Here are a few tips for making your trip to Walt Disney World a success:

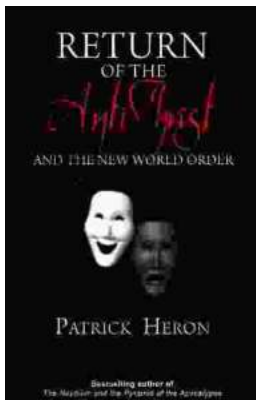

- Plan your itinerary in advance and allow plenty of time for breaks and relaxation.
- Check the accessibility information for each attraction before you go.
- Find accessible accommodations that meet your needs.
- Take advantage of the transportation options available.
- Be prepared for crowds and long lines.
- Have fun!

With a little planning, you can have a successful and enjoyable trip to Walt Disney World, no matter what your special needs may be.
